Qualifications

Please describe your relevant analytical skills.

I am known to be attentive to detail, perceptive, and industrious. I can bring enthusiasm to team projects and encourage others to develop workable ideas.

My professional experience encompasses a myriad of creative and responsible assignments.

While coordinating and collaborating with a cross section of constituents throughout my career, I have excelled at multi-tasking, maintaining contact with dozens of artists, government officials, non-profits and educators, etc.

In 1992, I was charged with drafting the Housing Trust Fund Rules for the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs and lead the entire process until they were adopted.

Please describe your ability to be impartial.

I understand how to work with people to produce the needed outcome. I am respectful of others, passionate about the arts, community involvement, and education and have the ability to think outside the box and see opportunities rather than obstacles.

While serving as the first Housing Trust Fund administrator for the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs, 1992-1997, I was often required to meet with the public and also testify during Sessions at the Capitol before Texas legislators and the public, which required diplomacy.

In my role as a member of Texas Advisory Committee, The United States Commission on Civil Rights, 1998 – 2005, dealt with issues that required one to remain impartial and the ability to keep an open mind.

Please describe your appreciation for the City of Austin's diverse demographics and geography.

I believe that a key cornerstone in any growing city like Austin has to be centered on its citizens and their ability to be involved in the process. Austin is a vibrant city and attracts people from all corners. Its diversity should play an important role right alongside the beauty of Town Lake, SXSW, and Historical Districts.

It's critical that citizens in all sections of the city are equally represented and become engaged. Great attention is needed to ensure that this takes place. This Commission along with the process and steps put in place should lead to better civic engagement and are critical. In addition to voting, the community at large has to be engaged through community development efforts which should be an ongoing process.

Working at one of the nation's largest university based performing arts centers is rewarding. I serve as a member of the senior management team at the University of Texas at Austin, Texas Performing Arts. My work on campus and in the Austin community and beyond has allowed me to successfully build relationships with groups and organizations and develop community and education initiatives, as part of my portfolio, since 1997.

Please provide any other information you wish to be considered during the selection of the most qualified applicants for the Commission.

It is with great pleasure that I submit my application for your consideration as a candidate for The Independent Citizens Redistricting Commission. I thank you for your time to review my application.

I believe that a key cornerstone in any growing city has to be centered on its citizens and their ability to be involved in the process. Any and all steps that will lead to civic engagement are critical. In addition to voting I have made it a point to always seek out ways to serve my community by service on Boards, Panels and Committees.

Over the years I have served as a volunteer, below are some of the examples: Member, Austin-China Relation Advisory Council, Mayors Office, 2010- present; Member, St. David's Round Rock Medical Center, Ethics Committee, 2007-present; Member, Leadership Council Create Austin Arts and Culture, City of Austin, 2006-2007 ; Appointed, Texas Advisory Committee, The United States Commission on Civil Rights, 1998 – 2005; Steering Committee, The Bernard and Audre Rapoport Center For Human Rights and Justice, The University of Texas at Austin, School of Law, 2006 – 2008; and Executive Board and Trustee, St. Stephen's Episcopal School, 1999 to 2003.

 Note: These are not appointments, but I wanted to point them out as part of the process, Page 4.
